FLASHES of HOPE

Hibakusha Travelling the World

Design by Helen Chilas

“If people see my film and they think that they can do something to help abolish nuclear weapons, then that's my goal.” ~ Setsuko Thurlow, Hiroshima A-bomb Survivor

“Flashes of Hope” films the remarkable "Global Voyage for a Peaceful World" - an initiative of the NGO, the (Japanese) Peace Boat. They set sail with 103 Hibakusha on board (Atomic bomb Survivors) late in 2008 and travelled for four months, sharing their experiences with citizens and politicians at each port-of-call. The film was screened recently throughout Japan and at the United Nations, to critical acclaim. Healing for them. Sharing for us. Not to be missed.
